

26th May 2020

Greetings friends, it's nice to be home. I must say we had a glorious week away(!) which enabled us to do some much needed gardening. What a spectacular May we are having (at least weather wise). I am very grateful to Julia who has done sterling work with entertaining and informative 'View from France' e-pistles. Looks like I'm going to have to up my game somewhat.

Well, it looks like there may be a small chink of light at the end of the tunnel as there may be further easing of lockdown during June. I hope that people don't go completely silly though, as the virus is still active and we could all too easily have a second 'spike' in cases of illness. I pray that the government will produce guidelines which are clear and effective but that will allow people some more freedom to go about their lives.

As to when we will be able to open our church again, I will keep you informed and of course, there will be restrictions on worship which we will have to follow. I do, however, look forward to welcoming people back into our church building which holds so many special memories for many of us. Nevertheless, we have been able to maintain a sense of our unity as the family of God, gathered to worship, through our on-line services and that has been a great help to some and a revelation to many.

I am attaching the Sunday Service sheet for 'Ordinary Time' which we shall be using from this Sunday, Pentecost May 31st.

I pray that you are all remaining well but let me know if you need anything,

Tom

And finally, this from David Claydon!... If a vicar gets a new job as a solicitor does that make him a father-in-law
